GENERAL NOTICES.

Perhaps no local disease has puzzled and baffled the medical profession more than nasal catarrh. While not immediately fatal it is among the most distressing and disgusting ills that flesh is heir to, and the records show very few or no cases of radical cure of chronic catarrh by any of the multitude of modes of treatment until the introduction of Ely's Cream Balm a few years ago. The success of this preparation has been most gratifying and surprising. MWF

THE "OLD ROMAN."

Brilliant Reception Tendered Judge Allan G. Thurman.

COLUMBUS IN GALA ATTIRE.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHE TO THE RECORD-UNION.]

COLUMBUS (O.), November 13th.—The Capital of Ohio in the events of this day has been a veritable Mecca of Democracy. To this city has come Democrats of the country at large to pay homage to the "Old Roman," Allen G. Thurman, on the occasion of his 77th birth-day. All day Mr. Thurman has been the recipient of attentions which few American statesmen have enjoyed after their acknowledged retirement from the arena of politics, and to every caller, high or low, he has extended with kindly smiles the genial hand of good-fellowship.

The magnificence of the celebration to-day and the banquet to-night is a token of the esteem in which Judge Thurman is held by the Democrats of Ohio and the country at large. Throughout the entire day every incoming train brought Democrats of prominence from all sections of the United States, and to-night the scene can be likened to no gathering more than a National Convention.

One of the first to arrive this morning was ex-President Cleveland. He was accorded a most enthusiastic reception by the citizens who gathered at the depot, his progress through the streets to the Executive mansion being followed by a shouting crowd. Throughout the day the ex-President shared with Judge Thurman the felicitations of the Democratic leaders who called to pay their respects.

The ex-President first went from the depot to the Executive mansion, and during the forenoon held a public reception at the State House, a Presidential salute of twenty-one guns being fired outside. From early morning the corridors of the State House were thronged with people.

Ex-Private Secretary Lamont, Governor Campbell and many prominent Democrats were present at the reception, in the course of which the enthusiasm of the people knew no bounds. The remark was often heard from men, while shaking hands with Mr. Cleveland, "You will be our next President."

At the conclusion of the reception Mr. Cleveland drove to Judge Thurman's residence and congratulated him on his seventy-seventh anniversary, assuring him that the Democracy of the nation were rejoiced at his continued vigor, and hoped that he might yet be spared for many years of usefulness.

Judge Thurman replied that no years or future sets of years could possibly increase the warmth of congratulations he had received to-day from all parts of the United States.

Mr. Cleveland then returned to Governor Campbell's mansion, where he and a few friends were entertained at luncheon.

The banquet hall to-night was decorated in a most beautiful manner. The celebration was under the auspices of the Thurman Club, which had charge of all arrangements. Noticeable among the decorations were large portraits of Cleveland and Thurman.

Seldom have so many distinguished men of any party assembled at one time in any place, except on the occasion of a National Convention. Among them were Senators and ex-Senators, ex-Congressmen and Congressmen-elect, Governors, ex-Governors and Governors elect, besides gentlemen who have distinguished themselves in various channels of public and private life.

Shortly after 8 o'clock ex-President Cleveland and Judge Thurman entered the room, Mr. Cleveland supporting his venerable companion, who, further assisted by a cane, walked slowly up the hall. A mighty cheer, repeated, greeted the two distinguished guests, continuing until the Chairman motioned the guests to take their seats. After the party was seated, every man arose again and waved the traditional red bandana handkerchief in honor of the Old Roman.

Mr. Thurman bowed slightly to his one thousand admirers, and Mr. Cleveland did likewise, as cheers for him rent the air.

At the conclusion of the banquet, Chairman Lentz, of the Thurman Club, made a brief speech, introducing the toast-maker, Congressman Outhwaite. When Mr. Outhwaite delivered a brief eulogy, Judge Thurman's guests arose to their feet again and the scene of wild enthusiasm was one that would have swelled with pride the heart of any human being.

It was five minutes before the ovation subsided sufficiently to allow Judge Thurman to respond.

JUDGE THURMAN'S SPEECH.

Judge Thurman responded to the toast, "Our Guests." He said, in the beginning, that he was not here to-night to make an elaborate speech. He was here to express his heartfelt appreciation of the honor they have so kindly seen fit to do him, to thank with his whole soul his neighbors, fellow-citizens of Ohio, and the distinguished gentlemen from other States, for their mark of friendship and esteem.

"I am here," said he, "at the age of 77, to repeat my testimony so often given of my confidence in the beneficent effects of free institutions and my firm belief of their duration on this continent, and their gradual but certain extension over other and larger portions of the globe. Short as has my life been, in comparison with the lives of nations, it has been long enough for me to see my native land, under free institutions, increase in population more than seven-fold; in wealth, in a very far greater degree; in extent of territory, more than double its own; in the general well-being and prosperity of the people and in educational advantages and religious privileges without rival in the world, while its magnificent works of internal improvement, its wonderful agricultural resources, its great mines and factories, and its marvelous means of communications, creations of science and skill, have surpassed anything before known by the human race, and in these same 77 years the constitution of nearly every Government in Europe has been ameliorated by the introduction of a more liberal principle.

"Central and South America have become Republics. Canada and Australia are substantially Republics, without the name. Even in the far East Japan becomes more free and liberal each year, and more marvelous yet, light seems to be breaking over benighted Africa, and men are predicting, without exciting ridicule, her redemption from her barbarous sleep of centuries. In a word, freedom seems to be gradually circumnavigating the globe, and a proud thought for us, the polar star of the navigation, is our own Republic of the United States."

Judge Thurman spoke feelingly of the uniform kindness and honors bestowed upon him by the people of Ohio from boyhood to old age, and spoke of all the distinguished lawyers and statesmen of Ohio and other sections of the country whom he had known during his career. In conclusion he said:

"Before I conclude, there is one statement which I feel it my duty to make. In one of our town papers a few days ago I saw my name suggested as that of a proper candidate for the Presidency or Vice-Presidency in 1892. I regretted very much to see the suggestion, for, appearing in a paper known to be very friendly to me, and published in the place of my residence, it might naturally be suspected by strangers that it was inspired, or at least approved by me. But such was not the fact. My friends, let me say to you in all sincerity, and without the least mental reservation, that I am not nor shall I ever again be a candidate for office. I have been sufficiently honored by my party, and neither ask nor desire any further honor than continued friendship and good will.

"Gentlemen, you have gladdened the heart and brightened the footsteps of an old man, your devoted friend, in his descent of the hill of life, where he has almost reached its foot. May God bless you all, is his earnest prayer."

EX-PRESIDENT CLEVELAND.

Ex-President Cleveland next responded to the toast, "American Citizenship." He said in part: "I follow the promptings of a heart full of devotion and veneration, as I tender from the Democrats of the great State of New York her tribute of affection for the man whom we honor to-night. I am commissioned to claim for my State her full share of the glory which has been shed upon the American name and character by one whose career and example cannot be pre-empted, and whose renown cannot be limited in ownership to the neighbors and friends of any locality. We rejoice in the example afforded on this occasion of genuine American citizenship, revealed to us as a safe and infallible interpreter of duty in all emergencies, of a long and honorable public career, and it is an unfailing guide to usefulness and fame.

"In the presence and atmosphere of these reflections we should not miss the lesson they commend to us, or fail to renew our appreciation of the value of this citizenship, and revive our apprehension of the sentiments and conditions in which it has its rise and growth. First of all, we should be profoundly grateful that the elements which make up the strength and vigor of American citizenship are so naturally related to our situation and are so simple. Here the plain people of the land are rulers. Their investiture of power is only accompanied with conditions that they should love their country; that they should jealously guard and protect its interests and fair fame, and that all the intelligence with which they are endowed should be devoted to an understanding of its needs and a promotion of its welfare.

"It should never be forgotten that the influence which more than all other things has made our people the safe depositaries of governmental power, and which has furnished the surest guarantee of the strength and perpetuity of a Republic, has its source in the American home. Here our patriotism is born and entwines itself with the growth of filial love, and here our children are taught the story of our freedom and independence. But above all, here in the bracing and wholesome atmosphere of uncomplaining frugality and economy, the mortal and moral attributes of our people have been firmly knit and invigorated. Never could it be said of any country so truly as of ours that the permanency of its institutions depends upon its homes.

"I have spoken of frugality and economy as important factors in American life. I find no fault with the accumulation of wealth, and am glad to see energy and enterprise receive their fair reward. But I believe our Government, in its natural integrity, is suited to a frugal and economical people, and I believe it is safest in the hands of those who have been made strong and self-reliant in their citizenship by self-denial and by the surrounding of enforced economy.

"When, therefore, men in high places of trust, charged with the responsibility of making and executing our laws, not only condemn but flippantly deride cheapness and economy within the homes of our people, and when the expenditures of the Government are reckless and wasteful, we may be sure that something is wrong with us, and that a condition exists which calls for a vigorous and resentful defense of Americanism by every man worthy to be called an American citizen.

"Upon the question of cheapness and economy, whether it relates to individuals or to operations of the Government, the Democratic party, true to its creed, will unalterably remain attached to our plain and frugal people when the question is raised whether our people shall have the necessaries of life at a cheaper rate. We are not ashamed to confess ourselves in full sympathy with the demand for cheaper coats, and we are not disturbed by the hint that this seems necessarily to involve a cheaper man or woman.

"When the promoters of a party measure which invades every home in the land with higher prices declares that the cheap and nasty go together, and that this whole system of cheap things is a badge of poverty—for cheap merchandise means cheap men, and cheap men means a cheap country—we indignantly repudiate such an interpretation of American sentiment. And when another one, high in party councils, who has become notorious as an advocate of a contrivance to perpetrate partisan supremacy by outrageous interference with the suffrages of the people, announces that the cry for cheapness is un-American, we scornfully reply that his speech does not indicate the slightest conception of true Americanism.

"I will not refer to other utterances of like import from similar sources. I content myself with recalling the most prominent and significant. The wonder is that these things were addressed by Americans to Americans. What was the occasion of these condemnations, these epithets? It is hard to speak patiently as we answer. Step by step a vast number of our people had been led on, following blindly in the path of the party. They have been filled with hate and sectional prejudice; they have been cajoled with misrepresentations and false promises; they have been corrupted with money and by appeals to their selfishness, and all these things led up to their final betrayal to satisfy demands of those who supplied the fund for their corruption. This betrayal was palpable, and it was impossible to deny or conceal the fact that the pretended relief tendered to the people in fulfillment of the promise to lighten the burdens of their life, made by the party intrusted with the Government, was but a scheme to pay debts incurred by the purchase of party success, while it increased the impoverishment of the masses.

"The people were at last aroused and demanded an explanation. The leaders of the party which was caught in the act of robbery, and which was arraigned by the people for a violation of its trust, were forced by their sad predicament to a desperate expedient. To attempt to reverse the current of true Americanism, and to discredit it of the most honorably sentiments belonging to American manhood, were the disgraceful tasks of those who insulted our people by the announcement of the doctrine that to desire cheapness was to love nastiness, and to practice economy and frugality was un-American. Thus do we plainly see that when the path pointed out by patriotism and American citizenship is forsaken by the party in power for schemes of selfishness and unscrupulous conspiracies for partisan success, it course leads to unjust favoritism, neglect of the interests of the masses.

"But this is a time when faith in our countrymen should be fully re-established. The noise of the recent political revolution is still heard through the land. The people have just demonstrated that there was a point beyond where they cannot be led by blind partisanship, and that they are quite competent to examine and correctly decide political questions concerning their rights and their welfare. They have unmercifully resented every attack upon true American manhood, and have taught the party leaders that, though slow to anger, they take terrible revenge when betrayed. They permit us to forgive our honored guest for all the cheap coats he has ever worn, for they have declared them to be in fashion. They have also decreed that the decalogue has a place in our politics, for they have enforced the command. 'Thou shall not steal,' and have rendered emphatic verdict against those who have borne false witness.

"Who can now doubt our countrymen's appreciation of that trait so well illustrated in the character of Allen G. Thurman, which prompted him throughout his long career, at all times and in all circumstances, and without regard to personal consequences, to do things which his conscience and judgment approved, and which seemed to him to be in the interests of his country and in accordance with his Democratic faith?

"Our rejoicing and his are increased as we also celebrate to-night the triumph of the Democratic principles for which he fought and fell but two short years ago, and to complete our joy and his, we are permitted to indulge in true Democratic enthusiasm over the steadfastness and devotion to its creed exhibited by our party, which, knowing no discouragement, has fought to victory the people's cause.

"We shall fail in the obligation to our fellow countrymen if we stifle conscience and duty by ignoble partisanship, but shall meet every patriotic expectation if we follow the guidance of true and honest Democracy, illumined by the light of genuine American citizenship."

"THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY."

General Thomas Ewing responded to "The Democratic Party." In relation to future public economy, in the course of his speech he said: "Since the war the great industries of the country have been becoming concentrated in the hands of a few great corporations, created by the people and subject to their control. These vast powers are rapidly multiplying the millionaires and destroying the industrial independence of the masses.

"As Democrats, in the broadest sense, we must check this growing evil so far as the means lie within the legitimate powers of the Government. Our taxation, local and national, aggregates over eight hundred millions per year. To put an enormous tax burden on wealth instead of the labor of the country will tend strongly to the wholesome and just distribution of the annual net increases which labor and capital combined produce.

"We must go back to a rational tariff policy. The Republican party has enacted a tariff for protection only, leaving sixty-three millions of consumers to be plundered by protected manufacturers."

General Ewing further said that the Federal income and inheritance taxes should be, and he believed will be, restored by the Democracy. They should be imposed in raising revenues by both State and Federal governments. Small incomes and inheritances should be wholly exempt, and the tax should be graduated so as to increase with the amount of inheritance or income. Railroad and municipal corporations, he said, should be regulated by the States to rescue the masses from undue exaction.

OTHER TOASTS.

Ex-Senator McDonald responded to "The Senate." Congressman Breckenridge of Kentucky, to "The Democracy in America;" Hon. W. K. Wilson to "The House of Representatives;" Hon. Don M. Dickinson of Michigan, to "The Democracy of the Future," and Governor Campbell to "The State of Ohio." Several other addresses were made.

The messages and letters of congratulation received by Judge Thurman are almost innumerable. Many of them are from prominent Republican. Among some of the senders are ex-President Hayes, Governor Hill, Senator Evarts, ex-Secretary Bayard, Chief Justice Fuller, Justices Bradley and Brown, editor Childs, ex-Attorney-General Garland, ex-Commander Rea of the Grand Army of the Republic, General Butler, Carl Shurz, Fitzhugh Lee, Governor-elect Pattison and Senator Carlisle.

IMPORTANT CENSUS BULLETIN.

Lengthy Report of Consul Connolly on Our Trade with the Colonies.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.]

THE ELEVENTH CENSUS.

An Interesting Bulletin Soon to be Issued by Mr. Porter.

WASHINGTON, November 13th.—One of the most interesting bulletins that will ever be issued by the Census Office will come out in a few days. It will give the population of cities having more than 8,000 inhabitants, and the list will embrace over 400. The grouping of this particular class of statistics will afford an opportunity for comparisons, and will furnish data for a number of valuable studies.

Mr. Porter says: "The most surprising fact that the forthcoming census will establish is the stupendous growth of the urban population—the migration of the agricultural population to the cities. The tendency of modern civilization is to mass the population. An individual often sinks his own will, his own property, his own happiness, present and prospective, in tenement houses of the city, when he might have been an independent man, with a fair competence, had he been content with rural life. The pre-eminent success of a few in the vast commercial enterprises, in the manufactures and in public affairs, tempts those in the scattered homes to go to the centers of population, and hopefulness keeps many of them there till they cannot get away. As the result of this tendency the eleventh census will show a tremendous gain in city population.

"During the past decade this gain has been no less than 60 per cent. In speaking roundly, it may be said that in 1790 one-thirtieth of the population was found in cities of more than 8,000 population; in 1800, one-twenty-fifth; in 1810, and also in 1820, one-twentieth; in 1830, one-sixteenth; in 1840, one-twelfth; in 1850, one-eighth; in 1860, one-seventh, 1870, more than one-fifth, in 1880, half-way between one-fifth and one-quarter, and in 1890, nearly three-tenths.

"The eleventh census will show that in the State of Massachusetts fully 75 per cent of the population reside in cities.

"The phenomenal growth in population of our centers of industrial energy is indicative of the rise of our great manufacturing industries during the last decade, and illustrates the fact that this country is now the foremost manufacturing, as well as the leading agricultural nation, in the world."

Speaking of the effect of this urban movement, Mr. Porter said: "The growth of cities has undoubtedly decreased the rate of increase in our population, as the birth rate in our cities is notoriously low. The influence of immigration is made much of, though few seem to realize that the total during the last decade has been larger than ever before. The character of immigration has entirely changed in the last ten years. The immigration from the United Kingdom, Germany and Scandinavia, with their large families and love of comfortable homes, has remained stationary. The immigration from Italy, Hungary and Poland has doubled. Many of this class of immigrants save money for a return to their homes. Others come in gangs and establish no homes, as former immigrants have done. The effect of this addition to our population no one knows."

TRADE WITH AUSTRALIA.

Report of Consul Connolly Regarding Our Relations With the Colonies.

WASHINGTON, November 13th.—Consul J. D. Connolly, at Auckland, New Zealand, has submitted a report to the State Department in which he says: "The total value of imports from the United States during the year 1889 amounted to $1,712,180, an increase over the preceding year of $95,835. The value of exports to the United States during the same period was $1,706 870, thus showing the balance of trade to be $5,320 in our favor at the close of last year.

"As the Australasian colonies are growing in wealth and population, and in consequence their commercial importance is correspondingly increasing, it might not be uninteresting to know the value of our trade with New Zealand for the last ten years, viz, from 1880 to 1889, inclusive, from figures just received from the Colonial Government. I find the exports for the period above referred to to be: Imports from the United States, $17,680 255; exports to America, $16,339,060; thus leaving a balance to our credit for ten years' trade of $1,541,195.

"Considering that there has been no special effort on our part to cultivate these close commercial relations, which are becoming so necessary to the cultivation of new markets for the surplus manufactures of the United States, the above figures cannot be considered unfavorable. I believe I am justified in saying that if an earnest effort was made towards extending our trade with these colonies our present trade will more than double annually. This, however, can only be accomplished by more frequent communication."

GENEROUS GIFT.

Mrs. Alexander Will Build Commencement Hall for Princeton College.

NEW YORK, November 13th.—A Tribune Princeton (N. J.) special says: At the annual fall meeting of the Board of Trustees of Princeton University, held to-day, President Patton announced the gift of a new building by Mrs. Harriet Crocker Alexander, daughter of the late Charles Crocker of California.

The new building will be used for commencement exercises and all the higher functions of university life. It will be the finest, most costly and best-equipped building of its kind belonging to any college in the country. The best architects will be consulted, and also the best taste and precedent in a building of this style.

Several sites have been suggested, but none of them are considered at all satisfactory. The matter of location is rather a puzzle. The college has plenty of ground, but as yet no convenient and commanding site has been found which is available for a building of this character. It is to be a memorial of the Alexander family, fifteen of whom have graduated at Princeton.

President Patton gracefully announced the gift to the Trustees in the following words: "I think we all feel the need of some suitable building for our commencement exercises and other academic functions. I have looked forward to the time when, with the growth of the college and the development of the university idea, we might reasonably hope that some benefactor would build us a commencement hall which in its architecture and adornments would be a worthy tribute to learning. The gifts of women to Princeton have been numerous, notably those of Mrs. Robert L. Stuart of New York and Mrs. David Brown of Princeton. This act originated solely and spontaneously with Mrs. Alexander, with no solicitation from myself, her husband or any one else. It is a graceful tribute of fortune to fame. I did not suppose that the time and fruition of our hopes in this line were so near, as the following letter would indicate:

TUXEDO, November 10, 1890.

My Dear Dr. Patton: It affords me great pleasure to offer to you and the Board of Trustees of Princeton College a hall in which to hold the commencement exercises and the assemblages which may in future be held by the University. Trusting this will meet with your approval, I am sincerely yours,

HARRIET C. ALEXANDER.

There has been no definite amount named, but it is known that it is the intention of Mrs Alexander to erect a building upon the Princeton campus that will be an ornament, besides supply a great need. The commencement exercises are at present held in an old Presbyterian Church on the college grounds—a plain structure hardly in keeping with the growth of the college.

Armour & Co. Dissolve Partnership.

CHICAGO, November 13th. — The announcement was made to-day that Philip D. Armour and Michael Cudahy had dissolved partnership, Armour making over his interest in the Omaha house in exchange for his interest in the Chicago house. The separation was entirely amicable, and was the outcome of Cudahy's intention to retire from the active outside work of the firm.

Reinstated.

WASHINGTON, November 13th. — Postmaster-General Wanamaker has sent a letter to city Postmaster Sherwood directing the reinstatement of Mrs. Margaret S. Watkins, delivery clerk at the postoffice, who, last Thursday, was temporarily suspended for telling Senator Quay's son that his father's mail "went to the Dead Letter Office now," she having explained that no disrespect was meant.

Death on the Rail.

LOUISVILLE (Ky.), November 13th.—Near Millersburg, this morning, a hand-car loaded with section men was struck by a passenger train. One man was killed and four fatally injured.

NEW ORLEANS, November 13th. — Burglars this morning blew open the safe of A. B. Meyer, securing $4,000 in cash and $30,000 in bonds and notes.

THE IVETT MURDER.

The Chain of Evidence Being Closely Woven About August Olsen.

MERCED, November 13th.—To-day an Associated Press reporter called at the Coroner's office and was shown a pair of overalls, pants and shoes found in the barn where August Olsen slept at his mother's ranch. On examination, blood could be seen with the naked eye, and when the reporter looked through a large magnifying glass they looked as if they had been used by a butcher.

Olsen was asked by a detective if they were his clothing, and he evaded the question and did not reply. He was also asked what he did with the clothing he had on while at Ivett's and could not tell.

Sheriff Warfield publicly announced to-day that he would give a reward of $500, and Mrs. Ivett would give $3,000 for the arrest and conviction of the murderer, and a reward of $100 has been offered for the return of the hammer and pincers that Olsen claims to have lost on Friday night.

Another clue was discovered to-day. The detectives discovered the tracks of a mule and a horse near the Ivett ranch and followed the tracks about ten miles to a large reservoir near Sagramp, where they lost the trail.

It is now thought that the murderer had an accomplice, and that they deposited the bloody weapon in this reservoir. The reservoir will be drained as soon as possible. The lake near Ivett's residence will also be drained, as the weapon might be there.

This morning Olsen sent to Modesto and engaged a lawyer named Hogan, and this afternoon he came to Merced, and in company with District Attorney Breckenridge, who had also been sent for, he went over to Snelling.

It is rumored that a letter written by one of the suspected parties has been intercepted that will create considerable excitement when made public. The web of circumstantial evidence seems to be being woven closely around August Olsen, but as yet he has not been arrested, but may be at any moment.

Search has been made for John Ivett's will, but the searchers failed to find one, and his friends do not think he made one, as a few weeks ago, in conversation with James Perrin, an old friend, he said he intended to make his will soon, as he was growing old and did not know what might happen.

Ivett's life was insured for $10,000 in the New England Mutual, and the policy was made payable to his children, who have died since the policy was issued.

COSTLY BLAZE.

A Large Four-Story Building Burned at the Bay.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 13th.—A large fire broke out at the corner of Davis and Sacramento streets about 10:30 this evening. About fifteen minutes after a general alarm was sounded, and all the engines in the city, including the water tower, went to the scene. The fire was in a large four-story building, owned by S. Wangenheim and occupied by H. Dutard, commission merchant; Saroni & Co., candy manufactory, and H. Leibes & Co., cigar factory.

The building was destroyed, the roof floors falling in rapid succession. The entire front of the two upper stories fell out in the street. Fortunately no one was hurt. The flames are now under control.

The latest estimate places the loss on the building at $125,000, and the loss on stock at $100,000, making a total of $225,000.

Residence and Two Barns Burned.

NAPA, November 13th.—A barn situated on the Starkweather ranch was burned this morning with all its contents, consisting of a wagon, tools, feed and two horses. The loss is $1,000.

GRASS VALLEY, November 13th.—Last evening the large barn filled with hay, belonging to Frank Kearney, of Forest Springs, was burned. Loss, $1,000; light insurance. The fire is supposed to have been set by hunters who were shooting near there.

DOWNIEVILLE, November 13th.—The residence of John G. Mollinox, near the Mountain House, caught fire last night from sparks from a chimney, and was totally destroyed, the owner barely escaping with sufficient clothing to cover him.

THIRTY YEARS' PRACTICE.

A Letter from an Eminent Physician.

MR. EDITOR: At the risk of indorsing a proprietary preparation, I have a few words in favor of a new laxative principle. But first, how I came to discover it. A patient asked about taking Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. As sarsaparillas usually contain mercury or iodides I objected, and asked for the formula, which finding purely vegetable, and so mild as to be to my mind almost inert, I consented. Imagine my astonishment when perfect laxative action was reported. It has two great points. First, being purely vegetable, it is (unlike mercury) not cumulative in the system, being easily carried off by the digestive processes; and second, it is effective with a less quantity of the cathartic principle than has hitherto been attainable. It in this respect ranks as a discovery, and approaches the ideal, viz.: the least medicine consistent with the greatest good. It harmonizes natural laxative action and perfect safety, and should interest both the public and the profession.

SUGAR-GROWING AS AN INDUSTRY.

The bounty of two and one and three-quarters cents per pound offered by the Government on certain grades of domestic sugar, and the placing of sugar generally on the free list, is a measure, the exact results of which cannot be foretold with certainty. Just now there is a disposition to declare that it will result in a domestic product equal to the entire consumption in the United States. It remains to be seen whether this will be the result. Speculation on the subject is little better than mere guess work.

As soon as the ports of the United States are opened to free sugar, a new factor will set up. Bearing in mind that the ad valorem rate was from 99.95 to 108.69 per cent. of the value of the article, and the extent of the encouragement of importation now offered will at once be perceived. Admitting the sugar of the world free may have the effect of killing the entire industry of the United States. The bounty to be paid should be equal to the difference between the cost of producing the article in this country and in the countries entering into competition with our domestic production. The question, therefore, is, will this bounty offset the cheap labor of Germany, the better climatic advantages of the West Indies and other sugar-producing countries of the world? Another question is, will the admission of sugar free into America encourage its production in Brazil, or generally encourage its production where cane sugar may be grown economically?

The payment of the bounties offered under the McKinley Act is another thing which will have to be looked to very carefully. The producer of sugar, under the laws, to be entitled to the bounties shall have filled prior to January 1st of each year with the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, a notice of the place of production, with a general description of the equipment and the methods employed by him, with a careful estimate of the amount of sugar he proposes to produce in the coming year, and the number of maple trees to be tapped, in the case of maple sugar; also an application for a license to so produce, to be accompanied by a bond conditioned that he will faithfully observe all the rules and regulations that shall be prescribed for such manufacture and production of sugar. The Commissioner of Internal Revenue, upon receiving the application and bond, shall issue the license asked for, designating what kind of sugar is to be produced; but the license shall not extend beyond one year from its date. The Commissioner of Internal Revenue, with the approval of the Secretary of the Interior, shall from time to time make rules and regulations for the manufacture of sugar, and under the direction of the Secretary of the Interior, shall exercise a supervision over all manufactures. And for the payment of the bounties, the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to draw warrants for such sums as may be necessary, when certified to by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

The measures thus outlined involve the appointment of a large number of agents in the Internal Revenue Department. It will expand the Internal Revenue equipment of the United States many fold. As originally presented to the House, the bill contained no provision punishing any one who would knowingly refine, or aid in refining sugar imported into the United States, but the Senate amended the bill by providing that any person knowingly refining or aiding in refining any sugar upon which a bounty has already been paid, or applied for, or any person not entitled to a bounty, who shall apply for or receive the same, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall pay a fine not exceeding $5,000 or be imprisoned for a period not exceeding five years, or both, at the discretion of the Court.

Thus there is a penalty fixed for claiming a bounty on sugar manufactured out of the country, but that will not prevent frauds being practiced any more than the penalties attached to frauds on the revenue at the present time can prevent them from being practiced. A very large portion of the sugar imported into the country will be so mixed with the domestic article that the Government will paying a bounty on the imported article. From the very outset, therefore, this false factor will run through the ledger account of home production. The bounty on the production of domestic sugar is also a bounty equal to $40 per ton upon any frauds which may be practiced and the onl y safeguard against these frauds is the vigilance of the Collector of Internal Revenue. It will not be long before sugar importing rings will be formed and systematic attempts inaugurated to deliver this bounty on sugar to foreign production.

As to the beet sugar industry, beet sugar may be profitably grown almost anywhere south of the Ohio river. Up to this time, the production of beet sugar in this State has been unprofitable. The experiment of enterprising citizens of this State and the failure of that experiment is still fresh in the minds of many; and the bounty of $40 per ton upon sugar may encourage the growth of the sugar beets, but the problem still to be solved will be, can sugar be produced abroad for two and one and three-quarters cents per pound less than the cost of its production in the United States? If it can, the imported article, on which no duty has to be paid, will stand upon equal footing with the domestic product, and if it should prove that there is a margin under this head in favor of foreign sugar, the market will be given over wholly to the foreign article.

Whoever, therefore, predicts any revival of sugar production must be prepared to show that they have completely mastered all the real factors of the problem, and must be prepared to answer definitely and specifically all questions relating to the relative cost to the consumers in the United States of the foreign and domestic product. The consumer will take the cheapest article.

AMUSEMENTS.

At the Clunie Opera House this evening Hoyt's farce comedy, "A Brass Monkey," will be played by one of Hoyt's selected troupes, with George Marion as leading man. The company is represented as generally stronger and better balanced than that which played this satire on every-day superstitions a year or more ago in Sacramento. There is a good deal of unctious humor and enjoyable drollery in Hoyt's dramatic work, and it appears to meet a public taste that few other playwrights have been able to successfully cater to. In this piece especially, and which has been almost entirely rewritten, his humor finds a broad field for satiring a phase of human nature which is a weakness in greater or less degree in nearly every person. We are assured that the satire is supplied with new songs, dances and situations, and that in both its men and its women it is supplied with better actors and singers. The Jonah of Mr. Marion testifies to comedy ability in this young man that promises a great deal for him in higher walks of comedy if he does not, as do so many, lose his head and overload self-esteem. The young women of the troupe are nine in number, and represented as particularly bright, graceful and competent.

At the Congregational Church this evening Hon. Thomas B. Merry, a well-known Pacific coast journalist, who was United States Commissioner to the Melbourne Centennial Exhibition, will lecture on "The Great South Continent." He is a man of keen observation, and in the two extended seasons he has spent in Australia he has thoroughly and critically studied that interesting country, and especially the British penal colony system. During the evening Mr. Merry will recite Lindsay Gordon's magnificent poem, "The Dying Stockrider." Mr. Merry is a man of brilliant wit, broad humor and native eloquence. He delivered the lecture now announced in Stockton on Tuesday night, and the Stockton Republican, in addition to giving an interesting synopsis of it, said: "The discourse was at all times refined and instructive and was full of valuable information, and the absentees missed something that was always instructive and very eloquent. His description of a night in a forest of the Australian Alps was a glowing piece of word painting. There are but few lecturers who can surpass him in the use of vigorous English. His recitation of 'The Dying Stockrider' drew forth an enthusiastic response from his audience." It is not probable that in any other so brief a form will people be able to gain so clear an insight into life in Australia as by listening to Mr. Merry's account of this land of romance, wondrous wealth, extreme poverty and marvelous extravagance.

There will be a social and literary entertainment at the Marguerite Mission, Twenty-third and K streets, this evening, commencing at 8 o'clock. Refreshments will be served.

SUPERIOR COURT.

Department One—Armstrong, Judge.

THURSDAY, November 13th.

People vs. Stanford Cox, burglary—Charge dismissed.

Department Two—Van Fleet, Judge.

THURSDAY, November 13th.

Horatio Tryon vs. Sylvester Tryon—Argued and submitted.

Thomas H. H. Davis, a native of England, admitted to citizenship; witnesses, M. Hughes and G. W. Nichols.

THE confidence of people who have tried Hood's Sarsaparilla, in this preparation, is remarkable. It has cured many who have failed to derive any good whatever from other articles. For diseases caused by impure blood or low state of the system it is unsurpassed.

IN FOREIGN LANDS.

BURCHELL TO BE HANGED TO-DAY.

THE AFRICAN SCANDAL.

Assad Farrar Described the Cruelties Practiced by Barttelot.

LONDON, November 14th.—A. M.—The Times this (Friday) morning, in connection with the Stanley-Barttelot matter, publishes the full text of Assad Farrar's affidavit. He describes how Barttelot, after Stanley left Yambuya, finding food scarce, employed armed Soudanese to attack the neighboring villages, but found them deserters. He then had recourse to capturing native women and demanding food for their ransom. Bonny did the same.

Assad relates how Barttelot daily ordered the men to be given from 25 to 1000 lashes for various offenses. He speaks of numerous cases of the stealing of food, the thieves being punished with 100 or more lashes until their flesh was torn.

In one case Barttelot ordered the punishment stopped, but when the victim recovered somewhat he was given 150 more lashes and then was compelled to walk ten hours in the sun daily, heavily chained. This continued for two months, when the victim's sores became maggoty. Barttelot then relieved him for a week and Doctor Bonney gave him medicine, after which the punishment of marching in the sun was resumed. The man finally decamped, but was recaptured and shot.

Assad says the officers had plenty of food, but that the men in camp were starving and dying daily. "Often," he says, "we asked the Major to issue a little old rotten rice to make soup for the invalids, but this was impossible. The camp became a miserable sight, yet none of the officers appeared to care." Assad refers particularly to Ward and Troup, saying that they seemed content, having everything they wanted, and were disinclined to march.

Referring to the Jameson incident, Assad says that Jameson expressed to Tippoo Tib a curiosity to witness cannibalism. Tippoo told Jameson he had better purchase a slave. Jameson then paid six handkerchiefs for a ten-year-old girl. The girl was then taken to the cannibals chief, telling them she was a present from a white man, who wanted to see her eaten.

The girl was tied to a tree. Then one of the natives stabbed her in the belly. She was soon dead. Then the natives cut her up. Some took the legs, arms and other portions to their huts, while others took the entrails to the river and washed them, Jameson in the meantime making rough sketches of the horrible scene. Then he went to his camp, where he finished the sketches in water colors.

Assad then describes the officers going to Stanley Falls at the end of May. He tells of Jameson's anger at the quarrel of Barttelot with Selin Mahomed, and of the anxiety of both to seek or discover whether Stanley was dead or in prison, as rumored, Barttelot believing that if he could release Stanley from imprisonment he would be made a Colonel.

Bonney also makes a further statement this morning, to the effect that the cannibal incident was the cause of the death of both Jameson and Barttelot.

Assad told the Congo State authorities, and they, excited over the incident, sent his affidavit to Europe. Barttelot, learning this, became terribly excited for fear he would be blamed, and Bonny says he ascribes the violence which led to Barttelot's death to this cause.

BOGRAN'S ESCAPE.

SAN SALVADOR, November 13th.—President Ezeta is in receipt of a telegram from President Bogran of Honduras, in which the latter admits that he had been forced by Sanchez to evacuate the capital and temporarily set up his Government at Tamara, a small place a few leagues from Tegucigalpa. During the night, Bogran, by fighting desperately with his small army, managed to break the lines of General Sanchez and escape from Camayagua, a ward of Tegucigalpa, where Sanchez' soldiers had been hedged in. His escape is partially due to the storming of the barrack in another part of the town, which required nearly all of Sanchez' forces to carry, and but few were left behind to guard Bogran. He, his Cabinet and soldiers broke the lines after severe fighting. Many were killed and wounded on both sides.

Bismarck Angry.

BERLIN, November 13th.—The brief reference made by the newspapers to the quarrel between Emperor William and Bismarck afford no adequate idea of the breach which has existed for two whole weeks and has caused the most painful excitement in official and literary circles. Prince Bismarck declares that he will not be dictated to by the young Emperor as to his publication of his life of William I., nor will he submit the proof-sheets to the Emperor. The latter, in the exercise of his just right, as he considers the matter, requires to see the book before publication, as it contains matters of importance to the State.

Bismarck threatens to remove the publication to England if necessary to evade the power of the Emperor. If he should do so the book will be confiscated through all Germany.

Burchell to be Hanged To-Day.

WOODSTOCK (Ont.), November 13th.—Burchell will be executed to-morrow for the murder of Benwell. He is preparing to meet his death with as much calmness as though he were making arrangements to go merely on an earthly journey. Yesterday he busied himself with finishing up his farewell correspondence. He then took down the nicknacks, pictures, clothing, etc., in his cell and packed them in a trunk.

The Sheriff's officers are superintending the erection of the scaffold and arranging the preliminaries for the execution of Burchell to-morrow morning. Burchell, though repeatedly urged by his wife to make a full confession, refuses still and asserts he did not actually do the shooting.

A DOCTOR'S CONFESSION.

He Doesn't Take Much Medicine, and Advises the Reporter Not To.

"'Humbug? Of course it is. The so-called science of medicine is a humbug, and has been from the time of Hippocrates to the present. Why, the biggest crank in the Indian tribes is the medicine man.'

"Very frank was the admission, especially so when it came from one of the biggest young physicians of the city, one whose practice is among the thousands, though he has been graduated but a few years," says the Buffalo Courier. "Very cosy was his office, too, with its cheerful grate fire, its Queen Anne furniture, and its many lounges and easy chairs. He stirred the fire lazily, lighted a fresh cigar, and went on:

"'Take the prescriptions laid down in the books and what do you find? Poisons, mainly, and nauseating stuffs that would make a healthy man an invalid. Why in the world science should go to poisons for its remedies I cannot tell, nor can I find anyone who can.

"'How does a doctor know the effect of his medicine?' he asked. 'He calls, prescribes and goes away. The only way to judge would be stand over the bed and watch the patient. This cannot be done. So, really I don't know how he is to tell what good or hurt he does. Sometime ago, you remember, the Boston Globe sent out a reporter with a stated set of symptoms. He went to eleven prominent physicians and brought back eleven different prescriptions. This just shows how much science there is in medicine.'"

There are local diseases of various characters for which nature provides positive remedies. They may not be included in the regular physician's list, perhaps, because of their simplicity, but the evidence of their curative power is beyond dispute. Kidney disease is cured by Warner's Safe Cure, a strictly herbal remedy. Thousands of persons every year write as does H. J. Gardiner, of Pontiac, R. I., August 7, 1890:

"A few years ago I suffered more than probably ever will be known outside of myself, with kidney and liver complaint. It is the old story—I visited doctor after doctor, but to no avail. I was at Newport, and Dr. Blackman recommended Warner's Safe Cure. I commenced the use of it and found relief immediately. Altogether I took three bottles, and I truthfully state that it cured me."

THE NEWS OF THE WORLD IS CONTAINE[D] in the WEEKLY UNION.

SMOOTH SAILING.

NO MASKED BATTERIES UNCOVERED IN YESTERDAY'S CANVASS.

A Few Mistakes Discovered, But None that Seriously Increase any Candidate's Danger.

Although the Supervisors were able to canvass but nine more of the city precincts yesterday, as against ten on the preceding day, they did not encounter the usual number of "snags" in the returns, and the canvass progressed quite smoothly.

There were more or less changes, or corrections, made by the canvassers in the returns of nearly all the precincts. But one tally sheet was absolutely correct, and that was the one from the ninth precinct of the Third Supervisor District, where Lincoln White was clerk.

The returns from the tenth precinct of the same district were not signed by the Judges and Inspectors, and the county had to go to the expense of hiring another hack to gather them up and escort them to the Court-house. It would seem to be a light enough penalty on such officers, for thus neglecting their duties, to compel them to pay the hack bills that are being charged up to the county because of their neglect of duty.

In the forenoon's canvass Devine, for City Justice of the Peace, gained eight votes over the number as heretofore published, and on which estimates had been made. In the fourth precinct the canvassers found Devine entitled to 76, instead of 75, and Baker (who is pushing him closely) 94, instead of 93. In precinct ten Devine lost one vote, and at the close of the day's work he had figured up a lead of 31 votes over Baker, with only two precincts to be heard from.

The only other material changes found in the returns for local candidates were in the fifth precinct of the Third District, where McMullen lost nine and Stanley gained as many. Rhoads lost thirteen, Beard gained three, and Hamilton gained twelve. Sims lost nine, which his opponent, Irvine, gained.

Matt. F. Johnson explains his continued presence at the canvassing of the returns by stating that it is not in the hope of finding that he has been elected, but for the purpose of noting all the facts connected with the scratching of tickets, etc. There are several other defeated candidates who seem to be interested in the same interesting object-lesson in politics.

The Supervisors will resume the canvass at 9 o'clock this morning.

PARDONED FROM PRISON.

Governor Waterman's Reasons for Releasing Two Convicted Persons.

The Governor granted a pardon yesterday to Mrs. Francisca Suchorzynski, who was convicted in San Francisco in July, 1860, of having lottery tickets in her possession and sentenced to pay a fine of $250 or serve that number of days in the County Jail. The Governor says:

"This woman is in poor circumstances, and unable to pay her fine. She has been imprisoned for four months, and I think this punishment sufficient for the offense. Her petition is signed by Judges Lawler, Rix and Joachimsen of the Police Court; P. D. Page, District Attorney; W. H. L. Barnes, John T. Cutting and others."

A pardon was also granted to Job H. Jefferies, who was convicted of manslaughter in San Francisco in April, 1888, and sentenced to seven and one-half years' imprisonment. The reasons given by the Governor for granting the pardon are as follows:

"Prior to and at the time the trouble occurred Jefferies was in the employ of the Geary Street Railroad, and was considered a valuable employe. On the 17th of November, 1887, while engaged in a game of cards in a corner grocery immediately across the street from the Geary-street engine and car-house, he became implicated in an altercation, in the course of which he was attacked and most brutally beaten by three men—one Kehoe and two Southers, father and son. He was taken to his boarding-house in a bleeding and almost insensible condition, and on the next afternoon, when he was able to walk, went to the drug store on the opposite corner from the grocery to get some medicine. Chancing to meet some of his friends he invited them into a saloon to take a drink, and upon entering found there the younger of the Southers, who arose from his chair and started toward Jefferies with his hand raised in a threatening attitude, when Jefferies fired at him, inflicting wounds from which he died in a few days. Jefferies' character prior to this occurrence was excellent, and his reputation for peace and quiet exceptionally good. I consider that he was acting in self defense when he fired, as he had good reason to believe he was again to be attacked, and in his weak condition he was no match for his opponent. I think he has suffered sufficiently for his offense and should be released."

Vagrants Sentenced.

Pat Connor, one Bicker, Henry Bane and Dan Daily figured in the Police Court dock yesterday as vagrants. Each was sent to the County Jail for forty days.

Barney Hughes pleaded guilty to being drunk, and was fined $5.

DEATH AMONG STRANGERS.

An Unknown Man Dies from Want and Exposure.

J. L. Shaw, the elderly man who was found lying in the stock-yards in a helpless condition, died at the Police Station early yesterday morning. When officer White first went into the Receiving Hospital to see Shaw in the morning the latter was awake, and afterwards drank some coffee.

It was deemed best to take him to the County Hospital, and the officer wrote out a permit for him. An express wagon had been sent for and upon its arrival the officer went into the hospital to carry Shaw out. On entering he found the sick man leaning on his elbow and vomiting. After two or three convulsions he fell back on the bed and expired almost instantly. The Coroner took charge of the remains.

The deceased was a man of about 50 years of age. He had in his possession envelopes bearing the stamp of the Carpenters' Union of Platteville, Col. He also had a letter from the Carpenters' Union of Pueblo, instructing him how to proceed in order to receive benefits from the organization. The last three fingers of the right hand had been amputated, and it was evident that on this account he had applied for aid.

When brought to the station he told the officer in charge that he had eaten nothing for three days, and it is supposed he died of starvation.

PETITIONS IN PROBATE.

A Deceased Laboring Man Who Had Saved Up a Neat Little Sum.

Public Administrator G. W. Harlow yesterday filed in the Superior Court a petition for letters of administration on the estate of John D. Peterson, the laborer who was killed by a caving bank at the gravel pits east of the city a week ago. The estate consists of $721.50 on deposit in the California State Bank, a watch, and $30 due from deceased's employer. All of which show the unfortunate man to have been an industrious and provident person.

Mr. Harlow also filed a petition for letters of administration on the estate of Raimond Leberer, deceased, which consists of a half lot and improvements in the block bounded by K and L, Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth streets, valued at $1,500.

THE RAILROAD DISASTER.

SALEM, November 13th.—Further particulars of the accident to the California express last night reached here to-day. The accident happened at the north end of the long trestle crossing what is known as Lake Labash, about a half-mile north of the Chemawa Indian Training School, five miles from Salem.

The trestle must have given away as soon as the engine struck it, and the train and the trestle all went down together. The engine was overturned and half-buried almost in the mud.

Then followed the first-class day coach, which was saved from going over by alighting with the front end on an old tree broken off about even with the trestle.

Following this were the tender, mail, baggage and express cars, twisted and broken entirely out of shape.

The seats in the car were every one broken to splinters, and the partitions in the car were broken into thousands of pieces.

Then followed the smoker, the seats in which were nearly all broken. Next was the tourist sleeper.

Engineer John McFadden, fireman Finneal and an unknown man riding on the front platform were killed. In all, about a dozen were seriously injured. Nearly every passenger on the train was injured. Conductor Cousar and C. Griebel were badly wounded.

HOW THE NIGHT WAS PASSED.

Fires were built near the wreck to keep the wounded from chilling through in the cold fog. Laid out on the ground were the mangled corpses recovered from the wreck. Reclining on improvised beds about the fires were the wounded, who had been taken from coaches, while standing about, tendering what assistance they could, were those less seriously wounded, and around these and everywhere were the crowds who had come to help or from curiosity. In the coaches, slanting on the fallen trestle work, were the same scenes, every available cushion being occupied by some unfortunate one more or less injured. As soon as the doctors from Salem arrived, at about 11:15 o'clock, they set about dressing the wounds and administering to the needs of the injured.

THE NEWS AT SALEM.

The first news of the disaster that reached Salem came by an Indian student of the Chemawa school, who arrived a little before 9 o'clock, having ridden in. He said a hundred people were killed. Immediately every physician in the city and a large number of helpers were summoned and taken to the scene. Every available rig in the city was taken within a few minutes and hundreds were soon upon the spot. A relief train was also ordered immediately from Albany—a part of the Albany Express that passed over the deadly trestle only a few minutes before the ill-fated train went down.

At once a wrecking obstruction train was started out from Portland which will clear the wreck and repair the break as speedily as possible. The length of the bridge is about six hundred feet. The trestle work there is from sixteen to twenty feet high. It is supposed the engineer felt the trestle give way as soon as his engine struck it. He gave one short whistle and set the brakes. The train moved ahead about fifty yards, and went down in less than a minute.

The scenes at Salem following last night's disaster are most mournful. At 8:30 this morning a train arrived from the wreck bearing the killed and wounded, and hundreds of Salem people were in attendance to help carry them on stretchers to the Willamette Hotel, which was converted into a hospital for the time being. Undertakers' vans stood at the depot grounds with their suggestive receptacles, while a long file of men only slightly crippled walked slowly toward the hotel, supported on each side by helpful citizens or railway employes.

Men and women with faces blackened, bloody and bruised, were carried out on stretchers apparently unconscious or resting after the horrors of the night.

It took an hour to unload two cars of unfortunates.

THE INJURED.

The following is a corrected list of the passengers with the injuries received, as ascertained by the Associated Press reporter: Dr. Hammill and wife of Philadelphia, just returning from a trip around the world, are shaken up but not injured; John Wagon of Winnipeg, unhurt; Chas. W. Johnston of Roseberg, Or., sprained shoulder; Rev. Father B. Champagne, Catholic missionary of the diocese, going to Lakeview; Captain Jack Crawford, retired scout, Fort Craig, N. M., injured in the leg. Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Kimberly, Neenah, Wis. One of Mr. Kimberly's legs is paralyzed and he received internal injuries. Mrs. Kimberly has a sprained back and her eye is blackened. M. V. and J. A. Nichols of San Diego, not hurt. S. M. Yoran of Eugene was struck on the chest and has very great difficulty in breathing, but is able to be around. He has a few minor bruises. J. R. Sloan of Eugene, thigh bruised and chest hurt. He can walk. S. S. Wolfe of Los Angeles, back hurt. He can get around by careful movement. G. B. Shallen of San Bernardino, shoulder injured and eye bruised. John Pengilly and wife, Tacoma, one shoulder and one hip each badly bruised; unable to get around. John Schenkel, Denver, Col., left foot mashed. He was helping on the engine, and was on the front of the baggage car at the time. William Rea, of Colton, Cal., head slightly cut; was sick before with consumption. Mrs. Caroline Evenson, a Norwegian, from Christiana, Norway, going to San Francisco, received internal injuries. She is 33 years old. C. A. Povalt, Oakland, Cal., hurt in the leg and arm, but not severely injured; R. Saake, of San Francisco, slightly bruised but not seriously; Daniel McCarty, of Ainslie, Wash., feet mashed and back injured; W. A. Creek, of Kansas, ankle broken; Hon. James McGarry, United States Marshal of Utah, leg broken and badly cut about the head and face. He was bleeding severely after his injury and is in a very critical condition. Harry Raymond, of Spokane Falls, arm broken. Moses Hurd, of Newport, internal injuries and side badly hurt. C. W. Caries, of Pendleton, spinal injuries and bruises. A. Brown, of Canada, hand sprained. Mrs. W. T. Ellidg, of Spangle, Wash., arm broken.

CARING FOR THE INJURED.

PORTLAND, November 13th.—A special train bearing those slightly injured arrived here this afternoon. They were taken to the Good Samaratan and St. Vincent's Hospitals, where they are receiving every attention. Those more seriously injured, of whom mention has already been made, were left at Salem. The number of injured passengers brought here is twenty-four. It cannot be determined what caused the wreck until an official investigation is had. By some the wreck is attributed to a misplaced rail.

The following are the names of the injured not heretofore mentioned: Mrs. E. W. LaFrance, Colfax, Wash., internal injuries; W. S. Hall, Spangle, Wash., spinal injuries; F. M. Mitchell, Penn., rib broken; C. Mitchell, Penn., leg broken; A. Churston, Chicago, back injured; W. F. Howell, Oakdale, Wash., severely bruised; J. W. Boatman, wife and child, Puyallup, Wash., badly injured, but no bones broken; Miss Isaacs, Walla Walla, bruised; H. A. Smith, porter on the Pullman car, arm broken; J. J. Nestett, back injured and badly bruised; E. L. Henda, East Portland, ankle broken; A. Hoff, brakeman, ankle broken and cut about the head; R. Dodd, Eudora, Wash., leg broken; J. M. Janette, Tacoma, Wash., arm and ankle slightly hurt; Miss Clara Hamblett, Tacoma, arm broken and hurt in the back and foot; Miss A. Stanton, San Francisco, slightly injured; E. W. Sproat, Hollister, San Benito county, Cal., ankle mashed; J. C. Bartholemew, Roseburg, Or., internal injury; Mrs. W. P. Hewitt, Menas, Wis., right arm broken and injured in the back; P. B. Beckley, Oakland, Or., four left ribs broken and hip injured; Julius Cunill, Portland, badly cut in the head; O. A. Peck, San Francisco, of Peck & Houghton, injured in the breast and back; A. Winebreinner, Milwaukee, Wis., injured in the back painfully; N. J. Tyrrell, Boston, slightly injured in the side and tongue badly bitten; Charles Powell and his sister and brother of Eureka, Cal., broken arm, head badly cut and hurt internally; H. V. Tarter, Red Bluff, Cal., injured in the back and foot; John Miller, Victoria, B. C., hurt in the back and kidneys, also a slight injury in the head and wrist; Miss Minnie Magnes, Minn., foot sprained; Miss Lottie Magnes, injuries in the chest and back; Elnoro Magnes, hurt in the back and side; Geo. Magnes, slight hurt in the foot; Jas. Magnes, slight injuries in the hands and head; (the Magnes family, consisting of father, mother and six children, were on their way to California;) Fred. Waite, of Kanapolis, Kansas, hurt and ankle wrenched; A. Collinson, Spokane Falls, knee and chin hurt, not severely; L. W. Cetchell, Seattle; W. Austin, Nevada, hurt across the breast and back; Gideon Kellogg, representing Kellogg, McAuley & Terhune, of Chicago, knee sprained; Jas. Batchelder, of San Francisco, just finishing a second trip around the world and had reached this near home, is injured in the back; Olaf Ekaahl, from Minnesota, chin badly cut and otherwise bruised; Miss Eckfeldt, of San Francisco, hand broken, nose injured and spine affected.

An interview was had with Marshal McGarry by an Associated Press reporter. He is about the worst injured of all the living victims of the wreck, having at lenst ten different wounds, and being badly disfigured. He said: "The first notice I had of the impending accident was three distinct chugs in rapid succession, and then came the crash. In a moment I was hurled about unceremoniously, and finally struck on the top of my head and became unconscious."

ANOTHER VICTIM DIES.

PORTLAND, November 13th.—Just as the relief train bearing the wounded from the scene of the wreck to this city arrived in East Portland, C. Greibel, of Milwaukee, Wis., traveling agent for the Val. Blatz Brewing Company, expired, making the number of dead five. Greibel had both legs broken and his body was badly crushed, also receiving injuries about his head. The body was taken to the Morgue.

Captain Ednell, of San Francisco, who had both legs broken, was taken to the Hotel Portland, where he is being cared for. The remainder of the wounded were taken to the different hospitals.

It is thought by the surgeons that Captain C. E. Bowden, of Tacoma, who is at the Good Samaritan Hospital, cannot recover. He is suffering from concussion of the spine. He was accompanied by two little daughters, one of whom, Ida, suffered a broken arm and a dislocated shoulder. The party were on their way to Australia.

VERDICT OF THE CORONER'S JURY.

SALEM, November 13th.—The verdict of the Coroner's jury is lengthy, but in substance it exonerates the memory of the engineers and the firemen from blame and finds that the bridge was unsafe and that the company was responsible for such unsafety.

FOUL MURDER.

The Horribly Mangled Body of a Man Found in Seattle.

SEATTLE (Wash.), November 13th.—The body of an unknown man was found this morning on the shores of Lake Washington, at the end of the Madison cable line, by two boys who were out hunting. The body was that of a man who would weigh at least 200 pounds. The head and chest were covered with an armful of hay, and when taken away by the Coroner showed the man's throat to be cut from ear to ear, a depressioe of the skull on a line with the right eye to the ear and a hole in the forehead, penetrating the skull. They must have been inflicted with a sharp hammer or revolver in the hands of an assassin. It was plain that the unfortunate man had been murdered by robbers. When found a bloody razor was tightly clasped in the dead man's right hand. It was evidently the intention of the murderers to give the impression that the man had committed suicide, but the deadly work was too plain for the Coroner's jury, who, with twenty-five or fifty men, went to see the remains, and decided that the man had been murdered. At present the man's identity is shrouded in mystery, as also the identity of the assailants.

THE BODY IDENTIFIED.

SEATTLE, November 13th.—Late to-night the body of the man who was found murdered on the shore of Lake Washington was identified as that of Olaf Ellington, a cook in a West Side brickyard. He had with him $900, which his murderers secured. The detectives claim to have a positive clue to the murderers, and are now on the trail of one of them. Public indignation is great, and if the men are caught they will probably meet with summary justice.

REDUCED TO ASHES.

The Town of Tiburon, Marin County, Destroyed by Fire.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 13th.—Word was received here this evening that the town of Tiburon, located across the bay, eight miles north of San Francisco was burning. The Tiburon Hotel and a number of stores and houses have been destroyed. The fire department is ineffective, and as a heavy wind is blowing, the fire is beyond control.

The fire started at 2:30 this afternoon from a defective flue in a restaurant. Among the buildings destroyed were the Tiburon Hotel, Postoffice, Corinthian Yacht Club house and a dozen stores and houses. The loss is estimated at $25,000, mostly insured. One hundred and fifty people are rendered homeless.

Tug and Lighter Wrecked.

SAN PEDRO, November 13th.—The tug Alert, of San Francisco, and a Wilmington Transportation Company's lighter went ashore at Catalina island yesterday in a heavy northeast wind. Both are total wrecks. The tug was engaged in Government work, towing lighters of rock from Catalina for the breakwater here. A sailor named William O'Neill, of San Francisco, was drowned.

License Too High.

SAN DIEGO, November 13th.—At a meeting of San Diego saloon men a day or two ago, about seventy saloons were represented. They discussed the saloon license paid in this city, and decided by a unanimous vote to resist the payment of $50 per month. A fund was raised and deposited in a bank to fight the license, and two attorneys have been retained. The saloon men state that $15 or $20 per month is a sufficient license, and they will not pay more.

IN ITALY

the proverb ran—"The pan says to the pot, Keep off or you'll smutch me."

If your grocer sends you anything in place of SAPOLIO, send it back and insist upon having just what you ordered. SAPOLIO always gives satisfaction. On floors, tables and painted work it acts like a charm. For scouring pots, pans and metals it has no equal. Everything shines after it, and even the children delight in using it in their attempts to help around the house.

A Boon for Old Soldiers.

Many an old soldier, still suffering from wounds received in the great civil war, will be interested in the following letter from H. F. Richards, of Mendota, Ill.:

"I suffered greatly for a number of years with violent pains through my left lung, occasioned by a gunshot wound. The wound healed, but I was left with severe neuralgic pains—particularly during the changes in the weather. I found no relief until I placed an Allcock's Porous Plaster on my back and chest, covering the inlet and outlet of the ball. In less than an hour I was free from pain."

For a disordered liver try Beecham's pills.
